OHIO SENDS OUT PLEA FOR RELIEF

More Help Needed to Care for Sufferers and Help Losers to New Start

FAMINE STILL DAYTON MENACE

Examination of Wells in Hoosier Flood District Shows Typhoid Germs

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—To get information upon which to base mammoth relief work for Ohio flood sufferers, Governor Cox and members of the state relief committee today planned an immediate tour of every flood district in the state. Plans for systematizing this were to be laid at a meeting of the committee with the Governor and Miss Mabel Boardman, a National Red Cross leader.

The cost of the relief planned will be enormous. Fully 100,000 persons, it is estimated, need aid in re-establishing their homes. Half a million dollars will be needed in Dayton alone for this purpose.

Need More Help

More money and more food was the cry that went up from the stricken district today. Marietta, Portsmouth, Ironton and Ohio river towns were in urgent need of supplies. Zanesville asked for help. Dayton today sent out an appeal for food supplies and for volunteer workmen.

Captain J. B. C. Eckstorm, with thirty members of the ambulance company, left today for Portsmouth. Equipment for a field hospital to be established on the Kentucky side of the river and three thousand rations were taken.

The number of bodies recovered from the Columbus flood district up to today was 75. Two were unidentified.

Patterson to Conference

DAYTON, O., April 2.—John H. Patterson left here this morning for Columbus in response to a telegram sent him by Governor Cox. Patterson will confer with the governor and Miss Mabel Boardman, of the Red Cross on the flood relief association.

"It is very important that we set on foot the real constructive work of charity," said the governor in his telegram.

Governor Cox is custodian of the fund which is now close to $1,000,000 for the relief of Dayton sufferers.

The menace of possible famine still hovered over Dayton today. The huge piles of food in the relief committee headquarters have dwindled away under the drain of feeding an entire city of 120,000 people. With the most careful distribution the food now on hand will be exhausted within three days. President Patterson today again sent out an appeal for prompt shipment of large supplies and will ask Gov. Cox to aid him in arousing the country to the needs of Dayton sufferers.

Find Typhoid Germs

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 2.—Typhoid fever germs were discovered in 25 out of the first sixty wells examined in flooded West Indianapolis and the bad wells were closed forever by health authorities. There are about 1,000 such wells in the flooded district and the work of examination is being pushed rapidly to prevent a scourge of typhoid.

NO AXE TO GRIND SAYS BACHELLOR

Sorensen Elected Because People Know What They Want, Declares Manager

HARTWELL URGES HIS SUPPORT

Wishes Success to the Administration of the New Mayor-elect

"The people of La Crosse know what they want. That is the only deduction I make from the big majority for Ori Sorensen, for mayor." This was the statement of Norris Bachellor, manager of of the Sorensen campaign in an interview with The Tribune today.

"As far as my connection with the campaign is concerned," he added, "I had no axe to grind nor office to expect. I like and respect John Dengler, I have long felt that I owe a great debt to the democrats of La Crosse and I thought I saw a way to repay it in part if I could do anything toward the election of a democratic mayor. I was elected city clerk of La Crosse by the democrats when the salary that went with that office meant a good deal to me. I also served as alderman and as chairman of the county democratic committee, and was postmaster under a democratic administration. Therefore, I say that I have a great debt to pay the democrats.

Paid Back Favors

"When I undertook the Sorensen campaign, he had been deserted by several of the democratic leaders and his committee came to me in distress. I felt that by putting my shoulder to the wheel I could pay back some of the favors that have been done for me. Ori Sorensen will be a good mayor and as I said before, the people of La Crosse know what they want."

Urging all citizens to come to the undivided support of Ori Sorensen and calling him a man of clean executive ability, Fred H. Hartwell, chairman of the Dengler campaign committee assumed a philosophical attitude today in a "post mortem interview" as follows:

Hartwell Good Loser

"I have in my private office a motto something like this, 'God make me win. If I can't win, make me a good loser.'

"All the post mortem statement I wish to make is that to those who have followed things political in this city it has been perfectly apparent for some time that the real issue in this campaign was one not mentioned anywhere above a whisper. When I took hold of Mr. Dengler's campaign a few days ago, after the primaries, his friends agreed that a veiled issue raised by the campaign two years ago would defeat him. The present campaign began two years ago when immediately after his defeat Mr. Sorensen made certain charges of party perfidy and ulterior influences.

"The saloon vote, banking on Mr. Sorensen opening up the town, took away some of Mr. Dengler's former support. I consider it exceedingly unfortunate that an election should have turned upon any man's affiliations rather than upon his qualifications, but such was indisputably the case.

"However, Mr. Sorensen is a man of executive ability, successful in business, clean in every way, and should have the undivided support of all citizens to make his administration successful.

"But I'm wondering what Harry Palmer and the boys who after the returns had come in last night hired a band and celebrated what they characterized as an 'open town' victory will do when they find that Mr. Sorensen will not open the district after all.

"Anyway, success to the Sorensen administration."

WYOMING FLAGSHIP ATLANTIC FLEET SOUTHERN DRILL GROUNDS (VIA WIRELES TO HAMPTON ROADS, April 2—Uncle Sam's greatest dreadnaught, the Wyoming, with six members of President Wilson's cabinet on board, lead her sister war vessels, the Florida and North Dakota, into battle practice today. When the signal "Cease firing" was flashed the canvas screens, 21x22 feet, were torn into tatters.

NEW KING TO GREECE

BRINDISI, April 2.—Strictest secrecy attended the departure from here today of the French Duc de Montpensior who yesterday was proclaimed king of Albania by the provisional government. In his private cayth, Mekong, the new king started for Corfu in Greece, but the reason of his going was not learned.

MAY LYNCH WOMAN

ABERDEEN, S. D., April 2—Fearing an attempt would be made to lynch Mrs. George Giffin in jail at Leola, S. D., for the cold blooded murder of her husband, Sheriff Young today hurried his prisoner to Ipswich for safekeeping. Considerable feeling exists against the woman at Leola, and a large crowd gathered about the jail.

BOARD AGREES ON JOINT JURISDICTION

Minnesota and Wisconsin Wardens to Rule on Both Sides of River

OTHER AWARDS OF COMMISSION

Legislators from Both States Agree Upon Fish and Game Laws

MADISON, Wis., April 2—Wisconsin and Minnesota have agreed upon all questions of difference existing between the two states relating to fish and game, and uniform, reciprocal legislation will be enacted by the legislatures of the two states now in session if the result of the conferences held by the commissioners of the two states are approved, and they doubtless will be.

The commissioners held two meetings, one at La Crosse and one at Superior and Duluth at which the Lake Superior situation was agreed upon.

Joint Jurisdicition

Probably the most important agreement so far as the Mississippi river is concerned is that the game wardens of each state shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the other. Minnesota wardens having jurisdiction to the Wisconsin shore and Wisconsin wardens to the Minnesota shore.

The closed season for game fish in the Mississippi is to be from March 1 to May 29 for hook and line, and from April 15 to June 15 for nets.

Spring shooting of migratory game birds is to be forbidden by both states, and a uniform open season in the autumn.

As to the Lake Superior situation it was agreed that there shall be a closed season for whitefish for six years.

Closed Season Determined

The closed season for trout in Lake Superior as far as the two states are concerned is to be during the month of October.

Under the agreement, too, the size of mesh for net fishing is to be increased so that the smaller fish will not be taken.

There is little doubt that the bills proposed will be passed, as it has long been held desirable that the questions involved be settled so far as fishing rights are concerned.

NO SPECIAL FOR MORGAN.

ROME, April 2—Owing to French legal formalities attending the removal of bodies from the ports of that country, the plans for a special train to catch the liner Olympic at Cherbourg with the body of J. P. Morgan were abandoned, and Morgan's body probably will be taken to New York abroad the steamship Isle of France, leaving Havre on Saturday.

Today brief funeral services were conducted in the parlor of the suite in the Grand hotel where Morgan died.

CHIPPEWA ON RAMPAGE.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., April 2.—The Chippewa river is on a rampage with two big ice gorges that have formed natural dams across the river one mile above the city, and fifteen miles above here at Cobban, backing up the water that is spreading out over the bottom lands. A heavy rain this morning swells the flood.

POLICE FIGHT STRIKERS.

HOPEDALE, Mass., April 2.—A pitched battle in which police and strikers wielded clubs savagely and engaged in a hand-to-hand conflict followed the attempt of nearly 600 striking employes of the Draper textile machinery mills to march to the mills from their homes in Milford today.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING

A special meeting of the common council was called by Mayor John Dengler today for Friday evening to canvass the results of yesterday's election.

CARY RE-ELECTED KITTLE WINS HERE

At Noon Kittle Is Reported to Have Conceded that Cary Is Re-elected

KITTLE WINS LA CROSSE COUNTY

Estimated that He Will Have Lead of at Least One Thousand Here

William Kittle, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, won in La Crosse county by at least a thousand votes margin, according to latest estimates on the returns which are slowly trickling in from belated wards and townships. It is estimated that Mr. Kittle will have a lead of 1,500 in the city alone, having a well defined majority in every ward in which track was kept of the superintendency votes.

This lead was cut down a little in the county, there being several of the towns which went for Cary by a few votes, but in the main the vote in the county on Kittle and Cary will be about even.

MADISON, Wis., April 2. — Reports received today at the office of Charles P. Cary, state superintendent of public instruction, confirmed the impression conveyed by the earlier counts, that Cary had been re-elected over William Kittle, member of the state board of normal school regents. Cary has held the office for the past ten years.

Reports from country districts were coming in slowly, on account of bad roads, and damaged telephone wires, but each report only served to increase Cary's lead. At noon it was positively known that Cary had carried the following towns and counties:

Appleton, Baraboo, Berlin, Burlington, DePere, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Neenah, Plymouth, Richland Center, Shawano, Shell Lake, Sparta, St. Croix Falls, Viroqua, Waukesha, Wausau, Green Lake, Ripon, Spring Green, Waterloo, Beloit, Spooner, Waupaca, Oconto and Merrill; Buffalo county, Barron county, Walworth county, Florence county, Rock, Kenosha, Dane, Green, Taylor, Outagamie and Jackson counties.

At noon Kittle was said to have conceded Cary's election.

REJECT COMMISSION

RACINE, Wis., April 2. — The voice of reform was choked to death in Racine yesterday. By an overwhelming majority the people of this city decided to cling to the old system of city government and rejected the proposed commission plan.

OLTMAN WINS BY LARGE MAJORITY

County Superintendent Estimates that He Beat Bratberg for Re-election Two to One

KITTLE HAS SAFE MARGIN IN CITY

Vote Close in Towns Outside of City but Kittle Has Lead Estimated at 1,500 in La Crosse

B. F. Oltman and William Kittle, candidates for county and state superintendents of school respectively, were victors in the county outside of La Crosse, according to partial returns that were received in La Crosse up to this afternoon. Bad roads, rain and trouble on local telephone lines combined to make the returns slow in coming in, but sufficient figures were obtained to give a good line on the result.

B. F. Oltman, with returns from all but Washington and Onalaska townships, estimates that he received nearly a two to one majority over his opponent, E. H. Bratberg. In the returns so far received, Bratberg led in but one town, Holland. Holland is Mr. Bratberg's home town. A telephone message to Mr. Oltman from an unknown source says that Onalaska township also went for Mr. Bratberg, but this could not be verified.

The vote for state superintendent of public instruction was very close in the county. In the city Kittle's lead is estimated at 1,500, and in eight towns where the vote could be secured today, Kittle has a lead of 11 votes. The county vote was neck and neck, each taking about an equal number of towns.

Following are partial returns from towns in La Crosse county:

County Judge Brindley had a narrow shave in procuring re-election. He was closely pursued by John Brindley—in fact, both had the same number of votes, and the election was decided by a flip of a coin. It was a heads I win tails you lose proposition for the popular county judge. The same situation was found in the vote for Robert George Siebecker for supreme court justice.

Neither had any opposition.

PASS GRAFT LARGE THROUGH COLORADO

Commerce Commission Reports "Orgy of Petty Graft" by Officials from Railroads

MANY STATE OFFICERS IMPLICATED

Judges, Legislators and City Fathers Caught in Board's Investigation Net

WASHINGTON, April 2—Astounding revelations of an "orgy of petty graft," by judges, state, county and municipal officials and members of the legislature in accepting passes over Colorado railroad lines were made today in an interstate commerce commission report.

It followed the commission's investigation in Denver of the extent of the free transportation evil in Colorado and the commission's demand for indictment of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, Victor Americlan Fuel company, Colorado Portland Cement company, U. S. Portland Cement company and the Great Western Sugar company for accepting such favors and of the Colorado & Southern, and the Denver & Rio Grande railroads for granting of passes prohibited under the anti-pass provisions of the interstate commerce law.

The commission's investigation developed what Commissioner Harlan declares "violations on an extraordinary scale."

"In June, 1912, it was found that 7,000 trips were made over one railroad on passes—and all by persons ineligible under the law," said the report.

"From Jan. 1 to June 30, 1912, approximately 2,200 card passes were issued by one carrier to public officials and shippers."

The report tells of a record of 36 passengers on one train, twenty-two of whom were "dead heads."

"The viciousness of the free pass practice," Commissioner Harlan declared, "manifests itself strikingly in its political aspect. The record shows that judges, state officials, members of the legislature, county and municipal officers, including mayors and aldermen, have very generally made use of passes. Not only has this been the case, but the record shows that passes were not volunteered, they were asked by public officials. Even judges have not hesitated to pursue this course. Personal requests by judges upon carriers for passes are disclosed by the record, accompanied by expressions of their sense of obligation for such favors granted to them, both before and after they went on the bench."

Points Instances

Continuing Harlan pointed out from the record how one state official got his pass by his friendliness for the railroads, another accepted one sent with a letter from the carrier hinting at the inconsistency of his taking free transportation and using it in some project against the carrier, and how a third who had been deprived of his pass, got it back after it was reported, 'he has since been very good."

"There is no indication," the report says, "that the federal judges in that state have used free passes. Whether subordinates or officials have turned their passes into a source of personal profit by charging mileage against the government for official travel performed in passes does not appear."

Withhold Names

In concluding Commissioner Harlan said the commission reserved for the present the publication of names of politicians, shippers and others benefitting by the "graft" pending on how far prosecutions should follow the disclosures.

County judge, John Brindley.
County superintendent of schools, B. F. Oltman.
William Kittle apparently carried the county by about 1,000 majority for state superintendent of schools.

Ori J. Sorensen was elected mayor of La Crosse yesterday by a majority of approximately 1,300 votes according to unofficial returns received at The Tribune office last night. Mr. Sorensen's victory was a veritable landslide, his opponent, Mayor John Dengler failing to carry a single ward. Out of a total vote of 4,452 Mr. Sorensen received 2,875 and Mr. Dengler polled 1,577.

The outcome of the election was awaited by thousands of persons last night, hundreds of whom did not go home until the last ward was heard from and final count announced. Sorensen's victory was the cause of a general celebration in the downtown district and resulted in a special rejoicing in the second ward. A parade of Sorensen supporters and friends of Alderman Frank Kohn of the Second ward, led by a band, marched through the business streets of the city. Chers led by Field General Harry Palmer, often drowned the valiant efforts of the band. Red fire was burned on every street corner and for more than hour the impromptu but none-the-less fervid forensic efforts of the leaders kept the crowd shouting its approval.

City Hall Men Re-elected

Every one of the present incumbents of city hall offices was re-elected by a substantial majority and John Vollmar and Fred Schnell were elected as members of the board of public works. City Clerk E. H. Hoffman received the largest majority of any of the city officials, defeating his opponent, Edwin McFarlin, by 2,201 votes. Comptroller William J. Fries followed with a majority of 1,585 over Oscar Houck. George Young defeated Louis Lavaque by 335 and Tax Commissioner Joseph J. Frisch was re-elected over George Will by 1,448. Police Justice Edward Cronon was re-elected by 1,305 over Wm. Powell. The board of public works contest was very close, William Rewey for a time appearing to have a short lead over John Vollmar but late returns turned the tide against the north side man.

There were several surprises in the aldermanic contests, the most most sensational perhaps being the defeat of William Tarbox in the Fourth ward by C. A. Worth, who was elected by a majority of five votes. Alderman John Schneeberger of the Eighth ward was re-elected over Ernest Hodous by six votes. Alderman Otto Granke of the Fifth ward and Frank G. Roth of the Seventh will not return to the common council next term, the former having been deposed by Robert Schulze and Alderman Roth being defeated by William F. Strauss.

Alderman Frank Kohn of the Second ward was re-elected over Rheinold Schulze by 59 majority. William Grover and Dr. A. R. Kempter will be two north side aldermen, former Alderman Grover winning over Tom McGaughren by 11 votes while Dr. Kempter defeated J. M. Knox in the Remains of Dead Money King Start on Long Journey to the United States

ROME, April 2.—Without waiting for the requested permission of the French government, the body of J. P. Morgan, the dead American money king was placed aboard the regular Havre train here at 6 p. m. today, accompanied by Herbert L. Satterlee, Mrs. Satterlee, Morgan's daughter, and Miss Helen Morgan Hamilton, his granddaughter.

Satterlee said that he would attempt the trip without governmental permission, trusting to the American ambassador, O'Brien, at Rome, and Herrick at Paris, to arrange matters satisfactorily before the train crossed the French Frontier.

THE RIVER SEASON GETS UNDER WAY

With the arrival of the warmer weather, things on the river are beginning to liven up. The Jap, a small private steamboat which has been docked for the winter in the Black River, was steamed up yesterday and run down the river for a way, and later docked at the wagon bridge.

The "Percy Swain" and another government boat will probably be down the river in the next few days. The attendants on the wagon bridge will get up steam tomorrow preparatory to letting steamboats use the bridge.

In the last few days many motorboat owners have taken their boats out of their winter quarters.

ALL CAIRO IS OUT WORKING ON LEVEE

Every Able-bodied Man in City Helps in Effort to Keep Back Flood

RIVER REACHES HIGHEST STAGE

Never Before in Its History Has Ohio River Reached 54.2 Feet

CAIRO, Ill., April 2.—Every able-bodied man in Cairo is working on the levees today in an effort to carry the city safely through the greatest crisis of its history. Only those who have been exempted under special orders, including grocers, physicians, bakers, druggists and newspapermen, are engaged in other pursuits.

The river this morning reached the highest stage ever known in this city when it registered 54.2 feet, one-tenth of a foot higher than the record established last year. The rise since Tuesday morning has been from 53.2 feet, and while the water is running away swiftly the river continues to rise.

At least another foot, probably a foot and a half, further rise is expected before the water begins to fall.

Nearly all women and children have left the city. Many of those who remain are aiding the men in their levee work by preparing and distributing hot coffee and food to them.

Although the break in the sanitary district levee north of Cairo inundated almost the entire sanitary district to a depth of (in some places) 13 feet, Cairo has nothing to fear from this water.

Kentuckians Ask Help

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Appeals for immediate assistance from 3,000 destitute persons in Catlettsburg, Ky., were received at the war department and the Red Cross society today. Senator Ollie James of Kentucky appeared at both places to urge that all possible relief be given. Catlettsburg is entirely inundated, Mr. James said, "and conditions there are worse than thase formerly at Dayton, or Columbus. The levees protecting the city broke and property and personal belongings were swept away."

James said no word had been received as to losses.

"It's got a fur overcoat!"

Daddy's Bedtime Story— The Worm And Caterpiller Puzzled Neddy.

JACK and Evelyn sniffed rather disdainfully when daddy said he was going to tell them a story about a worm and a caterpillar.

"Also there will be a little boy in the story, and his name will be Neddy," daddy added.

"Neddy wasn't really his name, but it will do just as well as any other, for I'm afraid you will laugh at poor Neddy when I have told you this story.

"Neddy didn't live in the country, or I'm sure he would have known better.

"Neddy lived in the city, and when one spring he went to the country to visit his Aunt Nellie and his little cousins I'm afraid he put on airs.

"At first Neddy's cousins rather looked up to him because he had lived in the city and had seen so many things that they had only heard of.

"But when the children took Neddy out and showed him about the farm they wondered if city boys really were very bright, after all. There seemed to be so many things about a farm that Neddy did not know.

"For instance, he spoke as if he thought potatoes grew on trees, and he didn't see why the family couldn't harness up old Mulley and drive her to town the day Dobbin was laid up.

"One day a big woolly caterpillar crawled up on the front porch, and Neddy looked at it with interest.

"'It's got a fur overcoat!' he exclaimed. Then Aunt Nellie explained that many caterpillars had hair on their backs and that by and by they would spin a little blanket and, rolling themselves up in it, go to sleep for awhile. Then some day they would wake up and come out of the blanket lovely butterflies or handsome moths.

"One rainy day the children had to stay indoors. The garden was soaked with water, and the next morning when the sun came out everything still seemed damp.

"Neddy rushed outdoors as soon as he got his breakfast.

"But he soon came hurrying in again.

"'Oh, Auntie Nell,' he cried, 'come right out! There's a poor caterpillar out on the walk, and the rain's washed all the wool off its back, so it don't have any to spin into a blanket, and now it can't go to sleep and rest up to be a butterfly.'

"Aunt Nell and the children followed Neddy out to the garden, and what they saw was a big red angleworm wriggling across the path. Of course they laughed and laughed at Neddy.

"Neddy knows now the difference between a worm and a caterpillar.

"But after that Neddy didn't put on any more airs because he was a little city boy. There is just as much to be learned in the country as in the city."

WILSON AND THE PHILIPPINES

President Wilson in declining to set a definite date for the independence of the Philippines is taking the wise course. That the islands are far from ready for independence is an admitted fact. When they will be is a question that cannot be answered at present. Growth in powers of self government, self restraint and general education is necessary before the natives can be trusted with control of their own affairs.

As the situation has developed there is not a great deal of difference between the republican and democratic parties on this question. When Bryan ran for the presidency in 1900 imperialism was an issue. It is such no longer and the administration realizes that fact. The United States definitely has entered into world affairs, definitely has become a factor in world politics. However we might like to turn back to the old isolation on this continent we can not. Ridding ourselves of the Philippines would mean only a partial lessening of the burden. We can not so easily get clear of Hawaii, Guam and the other Pacific dependencies, to say nothing of our moral obligations in Cuba and Latin America.

To give the Philippines independence now or in the immediate future would probably be to consign them to chaos and anarchy. It might mean abandoning them to the exploitation of a foreign power only too ready to grab and administer profitable colonies.

For these reasons we must excuse the indefiniteness of the statement that the Philippines shall be independent when they are "prepared for independence." It is indefinite because no one dares to say what standards shall determine fitness for self government. Indeed, one can not help thinking that if any very rigid conditions were enforced many countries now nominally independent would be deemed unworthy of the privilege. Mexico, for instance, would be considered unworthy of control of its own affairs. Many of the other "republics" of the opera bouffe revolution belt likewise would be disqualified.

The difference in the situations lies in the fact that in these cases we have no present control, whereas with the Philippines we have. In the end the natives will be better prepared to make good use of independence if they remain in Uncle Sam's school for a while longer.

HOW SIR ORACLE FORECASTS ELECTIONS

Last night The Tribune published the inevitable election night story telling (before all the vote was cast and before any of it was counted) how the election was going. All papers do it, as custom rather than as information. Of course readers feel sure that, barring mistakes and inaccuracies, the story is true, even though each paper has a different result.

But there is a sound basis for the story. Pete Onthespot of the First ward tells the reporter that the early vote was heavy up to 7 o'clock, and that it then fell off, rising somewhat from noon until 2 o'clock. This means that the laboring men are voting heavily, as they must vote before seven, at which hour they must be at work. The comparatively light vote during the morning and the lunch hour indicates, on the contrary, that the wealthier classes and the business men are not voting. Deduction—the labor candidate is getting strong support while the business candidate is being neglected. The vote after 6 o'clock at night, if heavy, would also indicate labor votes cast by the men going to their evening meal. The noon vote is not the labor vote, for a large percentage of workers take their luncheon with them.

A heavy vote in saloon wards is easy to analyze, provided there is a sharp issue between candidates along policing lines. Old-timers on the election board will tell whether the members of a candidate's church or lodge are voting largely. In case there is an issue affecting some particular portion of the city, if the sentiment on the issue is one-sided, a show of interest at the polls furnishes still another yardstick from which to measure results.

With bright reporters gathering the information and a city editor who knows his candidates, his issues, his city and his wards, the paper gets a splendid line on what is going on and what is coming off. Season liberally with "ifs" and "buts," make no unequivocal statements, conform to the political platform practice of dealing in glittering generalities, and the "dope" story is invariably reliable—until the votes are counted.

ABOUT BIRDS AND SWOOPS AND THINGS

In searching for some topic as far removed as possible from candidates and issues and elections, we turned with fine intuition to "Farm and Fireside." The result was interesting, although apropos of nothing of which we can think "to hang the story on." In lieu of a better excuse for printing, we offer the following as an object lesson to flighty mothers:

"In teaching the young to fly, the mother eagle will often have one of them climb on her back. She will then sail away with it in this position. Suddenly she will drop from under the young one, leaving him alone in his attempt at flying. Should he start to fall, the mother will catch him on her back and wings, and then try the same project again."

By the way, still apropos of nothing, some nature-poet whose name has slipped our memory, once wrote some verse about "The Eagle" that "The National Fifth Reader" (notice that this yarn is of age as well as naturalized) commented upon as the best ever word picture of sudden action. Said the poet:

"He grasps the crag with hook-ed hands,
Close to the sun, in lonely lands,
Ringed with the azure world he stands.

"The crooked sea beneath him crawls;
He watches from his mountain walls
And, like a thunderbolt! he falls."

Ever see a municipal administration swoop down upon a long, low, rakish looking co-educational segregation?

Gadzooks! We do seem to run to jingles today. Despite a hair cut purchased yesterday our spring humor insists upon the touching refrain of a sad old ballad:

"Empty is the cradle, baby gone!"

French people are trying to find a substitute for the meaningless "How do you do?" They might choose from any one of a hundred Americans salutations like "Oh, you chicken."

Maybe Washington society is waiting to see the Wilson family wash on the line before making advances.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Old Adam

He didn't have a stylish wife
Who followed all of fashions fads
With rats and hobble skirts and pads.
She never beggeered his accounts
For willow plumes and four-foot hats
And fancy high-heeled shoes and spats
And evening gowns of texture fair.
She wore no jewels in her hair.
She ne'er had a desire to skip
To Europe for a summer trip.
In social realms she didn't shine,
And never had to stand in line
At swell receptions dressed to kill.
There was no unpaid modiste's bill,
Though like all women everywhere,
She never skulked about that fact,
But got along with wondrous tact.
The servant problem peeved her not.
She never worried o'er her lot
Or caused a single family jar
Because she had no touring car,
And last, but not the least to note,
She didn't even want to vote.

What Waiters Really Do

Stuart C. Leake, the railroad man, dropped into a cafe in Philadelphia one day for lunch, and signified by voice and gestures that he was in a terrific hurry to be served. A waiter named Reno, whom Leake knew, paid absolutely no attention to the guest, but consumed at least five minutes dancing in a demented manner around a stock ticker in the corner.

"Why on earth didn't you come here to this table when I called you?" asked Leake.

"I was detained by a little private business," said the waiter mysteriously.

"But I insist on knowing," Leake came back at him. "I don't see how a waiter can hold his job and behave the way you do. If you don't step sharp now, you'll get no tip."

This seemed to bring the waiter to his senses.

"Well, Mr. Leake," he said, with great humility, "I was celebrating a little. I just saw by the stock ticker that I had made a thousand dollars on the short side of the market. What'll you have, sir?"—Popular Magazine.

Wanted to Be Safe

"Captain," said a wealthy passenger, who was about to take his first trip across the ocean, "I understand this ship has got several watertight compartments."

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Captain," the passenger went on decidedly, "I want one o' those compartments—I don't care what it costs."—London Telegraph.

Literary Janitor

"Is the editor-in-chief in?" asked the visitor, as he strolled into the magazine office at eight o'clock in the morning.

"No, sir," answered the janitor, politely. "He doesn't get here so early. Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Perhaps you can. Are you connected with the poetical department of the magazine?"

"Oh, yes, sir," was the quick reply.

"You are? And what do you do?"

"I empty the waste-paper baskets, sir."—Pathfinder.

Inspired Patriotism

The late Senator Hoar was once importuned to lend his influence in behalf of a chronic office seeker. It was not such a difficult matter to gratify the applicant's ambition by securing for him a place as consul at a Guianian port, which was not considered a highly desirable office. The newly appointed official had served but a short time, however, when his wife, unable to withstand the malignant climate, sickened and died. Disheartened and discouraged he resigned his post and returned home.

Some years later the senator was mildly surprised at being again approached by the ex-consul, who asked for reappointment to his old berth. "Perhaps I can do something for you," said Mr. Hoar; "but, considering your tragic experience there, your request seems a little strange."

"I know," explained the aspirant, a trifle ruefully; "but, you see, senator, I'm married again."—Judge.

A Kind Message

Nothing is so crushing to an orator as an interruption so absurd that it is no use trying to answer it. One of the funniest examples occurred in parliament.

A notable lord, who sits in the lower house, and who is a strong supporter of votes for women, was finishing an impassioned speech.

"What message am I to take to that great assembly of women from this house of commons?" he called out dramatically, with outstretched arms.

The answer came in the form of a drawling remark from some unknown M. P. in the back seats:

"Oh, give them our kind regards."—Answers.

The Poor Orphan

An old country woman stepped into a suburban drug store and laid on the counter a prescription for a mixture containing two decigrammes of morphia.

The druggist exercised the utmost care in weighing the dangerous drug.

"What a shame!" she cried. "Don't be so stingy; it's for an orphan girl."—Lippincott's Magazine.

An Obliging Lover

A farmer boy and his best girl were seated in a buggy one evening in town watching the people pass. Nearby was a popcorn vender's stand.

Presently the lady remarked: "My! that popcorn smells good."

"That's right," said the gallant. "I'll drive up a little closer so you can smell it better."—Everybody's.

"Forasmuch as many have taken in hand to set forth in order a declaration of those things which are most surely believed among us—it seemed good to me also."

To have had the large part of Thomas Jefferson in writing as immortal a document as our Declaration of Independence would be an assurance of eternal remembrance on the part of his countrymen. A side to his character not often emphasized is discovered in this statement. "I have always said, I always will say, that the studious perusal of the sacred volume will make better citizens, better fathers and better husbands."

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

The Just and The Unjust

"You won't send me away, John?" she entreated. "If I were to leave Mount Hope now it would break my heart! I—we—my father and I, wish every one to know that our confidence in you is unshaken.

North turned to the general with a look of inquiry, of appeal. Something very like a sigh escaped the older man's lips, but he squared his shoulders manfully for the burdens they must bear. He said quietly:

"Let us consider a phase of the situation that Elizabeth and I have been discussing this afternoon. Watt Harbison is no doubt doing all he can for you; but he was at Idle Hour last night, and said he would, himself, urge on you the retention of some experienced criminal lawyer. He suggested Ex-Judge Belknap; I approve of this suggestion—"

But North shook his head.

"Oh, yes, John, it must be Judge Belknap!" cried Elizabeth. "Watt says it must be, and father agrees with him!"

"But I haven't the money, dear. His retainer would probably swallow up all I have left."

"Leave Belknap to me, North!" interposed the general.

North's face reddened.

"You are very kind, and I—I appreciate it all—but don't you see I can't do that?" he faltered.

"Don't be foolish, John. You must reconsider this determination; as a matter of fact I have taken the liberty of communicating with Belknap by wire; he will reach Mount Hope in the morning. We are vitally concerned, North, and you must accept help—money—whatever is necessary!"

The expression on North's face softened, and tears stood in his eyes.

"I knew you would prove reasonable," continued the general, and he glanced at Elizabeth.

She was eveything to him. He could have wished that North was almost any one else than North; and in spite of himself this feeling gave its color to their interview, something of his wonted frankness was lacking. It was his unconscious protest.

"Very well, then, I will see Judge Belknap, and some day—when I can—" said North, still struggling with his emotion and his pride.

"Oh, don't speak of that!" exclaimed General Herbert hastily.

"This miserable business could not have happened at a worse time for me!" said the young fellow with bitterness.

"Don't say that, John!" pleaded Elizabeth. "For your friends—"

"You and your father, you mean!" interrupted North.

"It is hard enough to think of you here alone, without—" Her voice faltered, and this time her eyes filled with tears.

"I'll not object again, Elizabeth; that you should suffer is much the worst part of the whole affair!"

Brockett had entered the room and General Herbert had drawn him aside.

"I am coming every day, John!" said Elizabeth.

"Will your father agree to that?" asked North.

"Yes, can't you see how good and kind he is!"

"Indeed I can, it is far beyond what I should be in his place, I'm afraid."

"It has been so horrible—such nights of agony—" she whispered.

"I know, dear—I know!" he said tenderly.

"They are not looking for other clues and yet the man who killed poor old man McBride may be somewhere in Mount Hope at this very minute!"

"Until I am proven innocent, I suppose they see nothing to do," said North.

"But, John, you are not afraid of the outcome?" And she rested a hand on his arm.

"No, I don't suppose I really am—I shall be able to clear myself, of course; the law doesn't often punish innocent men, and I am innocent."

He spoke with quiet confidence, and her face became radiant with the hope that was in his words.

"You have taken to yourself more than your share of my evil fortunes, Elizabeth, dear—I shall be a poor sort of a fellow if my gratitude does not last to the end of my days!" said North.

The general had shaken hands with the deputy and now crossed the room to Elizabeth and North.

"We shall have to say good night, North. Can we do anything before we go?" he asked.

"We will come again tomorrow, John—won't we, father?" said Elizabeth, as she gave North her hands. "And Judge Belknap will be here in the morning!" She spoke with fresh courage and looked her lover straight in the eyes. Then she turned to the general.

North watched them as they passed out into the night, and even after the door had closed on them he stood where she had left him. It was only when the little deputy spoke that he roused himself from his reverie.

"Well, John, are you ready now?"

"Yes," said North.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN.

At His Own Door.

Judge Langham sat in his library before a brisk wood fire with the day's papers in a heap on the floor beside him. In repose, the one dominant expression of the judge's face was pride, an austere pride, which manifested itself even in the most casual intercourse. Yet no man in Mount Hope combined fewer intimacies with a wider confidence, and his many years of public life had but augmented the universal respect in which he was held.

Now in the ruddy light of his own hearth, but quite divorced from any sentiment or sympathy, the judge was considering the case of John North. His mind in all its operations was singularly clear and dispassionate; a judicial calm, as though born to the bench, was habitual to him. It was nothing that his acquaintance with John North dated back to the day when John North first donned knee-breeches.

He shaded his face with his hand. In the long procession of evil-doers who had gone their devious ways through the swinging baize doors of his court, North stalked as the one great criminal. Unconsciously his glance fixed itself on the hand he had raised to shield his eyes from the light of the blazing log, and it occurred to him that that hand might yet be called on to sign away a man's life.

The ringing of his door-bell caused him to start expectantly, and a moment later a maid entered to say that a man and a woman wished to see him.

"Show them in!" said the judge.

And Mr. Shrimplin with all that modesty of demeanor which one of his sensitive nature might be expected to feel in the presence of greatness, promptly insinuated himself into the room.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is free from alum and lime phosphates. Made from grape Cream of tartar and absolutely pure. Its use is a safeguard to health, for it actually aids digestion, and relieves from all anxiety as to the wholesomeness of the food.

On the other hand each attempted imposition of an alum baking powder upon the consumer is a covert attack upon the health of the family. Of course, no grocer would knowingly sell injurious food to his customers; but he has himself been deceived as to the true character of the cheap powders by their manufacturers.

Forewarned, and solicitous for the health of her family, the housewife will be influenced to a constant watchfulness and a stubborn resistance against the danger.

Baking Powders sold at a lower price than Dr. Price's are almost invariably made from alum, and therefore inferior, and prejudicial to health.

PENSION WOMAN EMPLOYE

CHICAGO, April 2.—Miss Jane Fairman, the oldest woman employe of the Illinois Central railroad in point of service, started a long vacation today. After forty-three years of continuous service, Miss Fairman was placed on a pension and permitted to retire from active work.

Cupid at the Back Stair

On the back of the maid's regular weekly letter from her admirer, there invariably appeared some mysterious hieroglyphics. After a few weeks the mistress, being filled with a highly feminine and quite laudable curiosity, inquired, "Jane, what are those mysterious letters on the back of the envelopes you get?"

"Why, ma'am, I thought every one who courted knew that. 'S W A K F O W L Y' means Sealed with a kiss from one who loves you.'"—Manchester Guardian.

Not a Bit Scared.

"With all your wealth you are not afraid of the proletariat?" asked the student of sociology.

"No, I ain't!" snapped Mr. Pneurich. "We boil all our drinking water."—Philadelphia Ledger.

No great length of time is required to give a young doctor a wise look.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Nature warns you when the track of health is not clear. Kidney and bladder troubles compel you to pass water often during the day and get up many times during the night.

Unhealthy kidneys cause lumbago, rheumatism, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints or muscles, at times have headache or indigestion, as time passes you may have a sallow complexion, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, sometimes feel as though you had heart trouble, may have plenty of ambition but no strength, get weak and lose flesh.

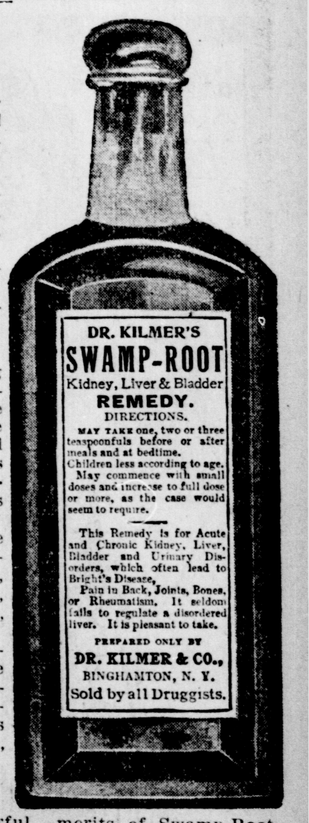

If such conditions are permitted to continue, serious results are sure to follow; Bright's disease the very worst form of kidney trouble, may steal upon you.

Prevalence of Kidney Disease

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease constantly undermines the system.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run down condition, begin taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because as soon as your kidneys improve, they will help the other organs to health.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one dollar size bottles at all drug stores. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., which you will find on every bottle.

DEMOCRATS WIN CHICAGO ELECTION

CHICAGO, April 2.—Complete returns today show that the democrats had a walk-away in yesterday's city election. Democrats elected a judge of the superior court, city treasurer and city clerk, and twenty-two of the thirty-seven aldermen.

Senator John M. O'Connor, elected judge of the superior court; M. J. Flynn, city treasurer-elect, and Francis D. Connery, city clerk-elect, all democrats, each received more votes than the republican and progressive candidates combined.

The republicans displaced the bull moose followers and ran second on the city ticket and through the aldermanic contests. Eleven republican aldermen were elected and but four progressives.

In Dodge the board members elected were Frank Bambenek and Jos. Kramer. There was no contest over the wet and dry issue.

Arcadia elected George Bohnsted mayor. The wet and dry issue was not raised there.

Independence elected A. G. Garthus mayor and did not vote on the wet and dry question.

BREWERY WORKERS WILL ACT TONIGHT

Peaceful End of Negotiations with Employers Believed to Be at Hand

Peaceful settlement of the difficulties between the breweries and their union employes probably will be made either tonight or tomorrow morning. Negotiations which have been carried on for the last thirty days are expected to result in the signing of the new contracts or a walkout will be decided upon at a meeting of committees representing the breweries and the workers tonight. It is the opinion of men prominent in labor circles as well as the employers that there is little likelihood of a strike. A meeting of the brewery workers will be held tomorrow to ratify the action of their committee at the meeting tonight. This was decided upon at a general meeting this morning.

Rumors that a strike has already been called was denied by union officials today who declared that the reason the men were not at work today was because they were attending the meeting.

Although the teamsters working for the ice and fuel companies have not negotiated their new contract with the companies, they are still at work and it is believed that the contracts will be signed some time this week.

The sheet metal workers, whose contract expired April 1, have not as yet signed new contracts but are still at work.

John A. Elliott, the La Crosse baseball head, has guaranteed Curtis that he will furnish him excitement aplenty for his club. He will have an opposing club ready every day if the Superior manager so decrees.

Twenty-one men will report this week and the first pre-season game will be played with a La Crosse club on Sunday.

George I of Greece Is Laid in Mausoleum with Impressive Rites of the Greek Church

ATHENS, April 2.—With all the impressive rites and ceremonies of the Greek church the state funeral of the late King George I of Greece, assassinated at Salonika the city which he captured at the head of his victorious army, began at 10:30 a. m. (Athens time) in the Cathedral of Athens.

A private funeral service, attended only by the royal family, was held later at the mausoleum. King Constantine I and members of the late king's family were greatly affected, and wept unrestrainedly.

The metropolitan of Athens and all of the Greek bishops officiated in the service. In the seats reserved for the family were King Constantine, Queen Sophie, Dowager Queen Olga, the widow; Princess Maria, wife of the Grand Duke George Michaelvitch of Russia, and the younger children of King Constantine. Crown Prince George and Princes Alexander, Nicholas, George, Andrea and Christoforo, sons of the dead king, acted as pall bearers.

CHASEBURG "WETS" GET 18 MAJORITY

CASEBURG, Wis., April 2.—(Special.)—With election day Tuesday came the very best weather and as a result a heavy vote was cast notwithstanding the fact that the naturalization law disqualified a large number of votes. The two features of the election were the license question and the contest for chairman. The town again went wet by the small majority of 18. The following town ticket was elected:

Chairman, Wm. Kapanke.

Supervisors, Wm. Klose, T. Kokkeby.

Town clerk, P. Peterson.

Assessor, Chas. Brinkman.

Treasurer, Alois Rochelt.

Justices of the peace, C. F. Brinkman, H. W. Schallert.

Constables, Chas, Ender, Martin Olson.

BI-PARTISANS WIN MILWAUKEE CONTEST

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 2.—The socialists elected two members of the school board, H. C. Baasch and Paul J. Ramstack, but the nonpartisans carried off the other four offices and have a majority of ten of the board membership.

RICH WONAN GOES TO WILLING DEATH

Married to Negro She Seeks the Route Taken by Mrs. Jack Johnson at Last

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 2.—"I don't care what happens to me now. I wish I were dead. Everyone knows that I married a negro." Then Mrs. Julia Gerhardt Kellogg, the divorcee of a wealthy St. Louis real estate operator, who married her negro butler, swallowed two ounces of bromidia. This one statement, credited to her by Mrs. Timothy Cox, at whose home she died, is expected today to furnish the basis for a coroner's verdict.

There is a deadly parallel in the Gerhardt-Kellogg case and the suicide of Etta Duryea-Johnson, the white wife of the black pugilist, Jack Johnson, who, ostracised by her own people, sent a bullet through her brain and ended it all. Both women, divorced by wealthy husbands, sought new alliances with negroes and it was not until the end came in each case that the world knew the whole story.

Julia McFarland Pocock was a society belle in St. Louis before her marriage to Gerhardt, who was prominent socially and wealthy. After her marriage she became a socical leader. Then came the divorce last November.

Mrs. Gerhardt went to live with Mrs. Timothy Cox. She had been there but a few weeks when L. W. Kellogg, a negro butler formerly employed by the Gerhardts, called on her. Mrs. Cox protested, but Mrs. Gerhardt insisted that the negro came on business. The visits of the negro butler continued but it was only a few days ago she confided to Mrs. Cox that she had married the negro.

Kellogg appeared at the central police station last night and said that he would look after the funeral arrangements.

"This woman was my wife," he announced proudly. "We were married at St. Paul, November 22, 1912."

Advices from St. Paul today say that there is no record there of the granting of the license and if the marriage took place, it was under assumed names.

Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota, has been secured as the main speaker at the banquet to be given at the Masonic temple on Saturday evening, April 12 at 6:30 in celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the organization of the La Crosse Young Men's Christian association in April, 1883.

Dr. George E. Vincent, the speaker of the evening, is one of the very best speakers in the country and it is a question if he has a superior for just such an occasion as this. It was only by using the greatest pressure possible that he was secured as his time is engaged for months ahead for such engagements as these besides the heavy duties he carries as president of the fourth largest universities in this country. He will present one of his best addresses on the occasion of the thirtieth anniversary of our Y. M. C. A. and will speak on "The Sense of the City." It is an address that abounds in humor and is also imbued with a spirit of community inspiration which makes it an event that no man can afford to miss.

The committee has about completed the entire arrangements for the evening and there will be other events on the program that will add to the importance of the occasion. There are quite a few of the charter members of the association living and these will have seats of honor at the tables.

Mr. John Holley will respond to a toast on "In the Beginning." Rev. Henry Faville, who has been in close touch with the association for nearly twenty-five years, will speak on the theme "Through the Years," and Mr. F. H. Scofield will answer to the toast "These Latter Days." Mr. George W. Burton will act as toastmaster.

An especially attractive menu is being prepared that will appeal to the appetite of men. An invitation is being sent out to all members this week and they are to accept before next Tuesday when the attendance will be open to any nonmembers who wish to attend. The seating capacity of the Masonic temple dining room is 300 and that automatically limits the number of guests. The committee in charge of the evening for the association is made up of Messrs. F. G. Tiffany, C. L. Baldwin and F. H. Scofield. Other committees to care for details are being appointed.

RUSHFORD MINN

Alfred, a son of Hon. S. A. Nelson of Lanesboro, passed away at the Lutheran hospital at La Crosse early last Tuesday morning, having been confined at that institution for the past three months with malignant endo-carditis. The young gentleman was born in Lanesboro October 25, 1880, and grew to manhood in that village, where his winning parsonality won him many friends. He attended the Lanesboro schools and until 1908 was employed in Nelson Bros'. bank when he went out to Meadow, S. D., with a brother, where they opened a merchandise business, later opening a hardware store at Reeder. While he lived at Meadow he was made postmaster there. Hiss loss will be deeply felt by all who were so fortunate as to be numbered among his friends.

Miss Davidson will speak at the Rushford Presbyterian church tomorrow (Tuesday) evening, also the evening following, her theme being one which must and will hold the interest of everyone. Friday evening Mr. Youngdahl will speak at the Rushford opera house, and on next Sunday morning Hon. Lobeck, the silver tongued orator, will conduct union services of all the city churches at the Elite, services commencing at 10:30 a. m. Miss Davidson has never visited our city before, but those who know her best believe that her happy and tactful manner of placing before her hearers the facts which she comes to impress upon their minds, must convince the most skeptical of the truth. Mr. Youngdahl and Mr. Lobeck have both been here before and are known as fine speakers.

Prof. Symonds of Lanesboro has been a guest of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Craig of Brooklyn.

Mrs. L. A. Gullickson has just returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives at Decorah, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dahl of Choice have had the somewhat unique experience of welcoming three brand new grandchildren in as many days, the stork special bringing to their daughter Mabel and her husband of Hettinger, N. D., a little miss on the 12th of this month; another lively young lady to their son Henry and wife on the 14th and a sturdy little boy to their daughter, Mrs. Clara Anderson and husband, on the 15th.

Mrs. Ensrud is slowly but steadily improving after a very long and serious siege of double pneumonia.

Ralph, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Baerman was taken suddenly ill last week and when a physician was called, the case was pronounced appendicitis and the child was at once taken to a La Crosse hospital for an operation. He is doing very nicely and hopes soon to be back home. His mother is with him at present.

Mr. L. L. Streeter, who for six weeks has been hovering between life and death, is yet very low, and all hopes of recovery have been given up.

The Miss Charrie and Bernice Roberton were La Crosse visitors last Saturday.

Mrs. Irwin and son Robert of La Crosse are guests of Mrs. Irwin's mother, Mrs. Ogard, and her sister, Mrs. Simon Hough of Ferry street.

Miss Mina Schoyen, a former Rushford girl, but lately of Minneapolis, is spending the Easter vacation with her old schoolmates here.

Ed Mindrun of Highland Prairie was a visitor at La Crosse Monday.

Mrs. Julius Johns and children of Rollingstone have been guests of their relatives and friends here.

Our city will soon be without a laundry as Mr. Andrew Nelson intends to sell out his plant as soon aas he finds a desirable purchaser.

Miss Loretta Hennessy, who has been enjoying a two weeks' vacation with home folks here has returned to her duties as teacher in the White school house, District No. 4, near Mabel, Minn.

Four young men of Bratsberg desiring a change of scene and climate, have gone out to Finley, N. D., where they will look for work for this coming summer. The gentlemen in question are Ole and Harry Johnson, Ed Braa and John Gaustad.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Lutheran church will meet at the church basement next Thursday afternoon, those serving luncheon being Mesdames J. Akre, J. Johnson, M. Johnson, C. M. Christianson and C. Melgard.

Mr. Austinson t ransacted business at Fountain last Saturday.

George Austad, the butter maker at Peterson was a business caller in our city Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hughes have been recent guests of friends in Winona.

Miss Thompson of Hettinger, N. D., has been the guest of Choice and Peterson friends.

Volumes of "Direct Evidence,"
Proving beyond a doubt that Hood's Sarsaparilla does immense good, crowd our letter files to the bursting point.

When a disease is in the blood, the medicine to drive it out is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Just read this, another "Direct Evidence" letter, from a lady in Worcester, Mass., who has abundant reason for gratitude to this medicine.

"Worcester, Mass., June 7, 1912.

"I believe if it had not been for Hood's Sarsaparilla I should have lost my left hand entirely. Therefore is it any wonder that I am willing to speak a word in praise of this good medicine? I firmly believe it to be the

Mrs. Alice Stockwell, Worcester, Mass.

BEST MEDICINE FOR THE BLOOD AND ALL HUMORS.

I had a bad case of erysipelas on my hands, and on the left hand, on the inside, at the same time, I had a very painful felon. I used poultices and liniments for three months and carried the disabled hand in a sling all that time. The cause was undoubtedly the bad condition of my blood.

"A friend advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, so I bought six bottles and a box of Hood's Olive Ointment. The treatment was an Unqualified Success.

Improvement was noticeable very soon, and when the fifth bottle was gone my hands were all healed up and my health was better in every way.

"There is no question about it, Hood's Sarsaparilla reached the impurities in the blood and effected a complete cure. Why, at one time, people came from all around to see my hand, and many of them told me I

Would Have to Have It Amputated.

Imagine my nervous, distressed condition. Many a time when my friend dressed my hand I would faint before the long, tedious job was finished.

"I am thankful that dreadful experience is all over." Mrs. Alice Stockwell, 113 Plantation Street.

The significance of this for you is, if you need a good blood medicine or tonic you will find it in Hood's Sarsaparilla. N. B. Be sure to get Hood's.

THINK LOST GIRL HAS BEEN KILLED

Authorities Sure Catherine Winters Will Be Found Outraged and Slain

PARENTS INSIST ON KIDNAPING

Still Stick to Belief Child Has Been Carried Off by Gypsies

NEWCASTLE, Ind., April 2.—Little Frankie Winters, 7 years old, is still saving today some Easter eggs for his sister, Catherine, 9 years of age. In the subdued conversation around his home since Catherine dropped completely and mysteriously out of sight Thursday, March 20, Frankie gathered that Catherine is supposed to be with gypsies. When he learned in reply to persistent questions the gypsies do not have Easter eggs, Frankie said: "Then I'll save some of mine for her, mama."

"It's terrible the way he misses Catherine," Mrs. Winters said. "He usually cries himself to sleep. Sometimes he refuses to take his meals without her. We tell him she has gone away for a while."

No Clew Found

Catherine Winters disappeared within sight of her own home while selling packages of needles for a missionary fund. A comprehensive search has failed to reveal a satisfactory clew.

Led by Dr. W. A. Winters, the distracted father, the hunt has embraced the surrounding counties and adjacent Ohio, ranging from pursuit by automobile of gypsy bands to a systematic search of vacant houses, barns, cisterns, wells, lots and river banks.

That Catherine was assaulted and then murdered by a degenerate is the belief of the police.

Crime is Theory

"If we ever find her we shall discover a foul crime," said Assistant Police Chief Mogul. "I firmly believe she was outraged and then butchered," said Detective Ives.

Dr. and Mrs. Winters alone stick to the gypsy kidnaping theory. Gypsies passed through Newcastle that Thursday. When Catherine left her home she wore a red sweater coat, a white straw turban, and a plain black and white checked gingham dress. Her eyes are brown and her hair is light brown.

"I want her back," said Dr. Winters. He has neglected his practice and has devoted his time to finding the daughter. "I would rather see her dead than suffering some place. I will not rest until I have found her dead, or alive. I haven't much money but if anybody is holding her for money, they can have all I have got."

'Some of the changes which the president suggested were general in character; some of them were in detail," Underwood said today. "On none of the points which he raised is there serious disagreement in the committee. We are quite willing to report a bill which the president will approve."

MRS. PANKHURST IS DEFIANT AT TRIAL

Warns that She Will Use Every Means to Make Her Escape if Convicted

FACES CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY

Will Attempt to Convict Her by Own Words of Dynamite Plot

(By Ed L. Keen, London Correspondent of the United Press.)

LONDON, April 2.—Half a minute before she stepped in the prisoner's dock at Old Bailey today and in a clear ringing tone pleaded not guilty to the conspiracy charge against her, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant leader of England's suffragettes in an interview, told the United Press that she fully expects to be convicted. Further, she gave frank warning that she would stop at nothing to beat the case, or to escape if possible.

Expects Conviction

"I fully expect conviction and am prepared for the tortures of imprisonment and forcible feeding," Mrs. Pankhurst said as she stepped from an automobile into the midst of a cheering throng of women and men sympathizers at the court entrance. The suffragette leader is being tried on a charge of conspiracy to incite malicious destruction of property, in connection with the bomb explosion that partly wrecked the unoccupied new country home of Lloyd George, chancellor of the exechequer at Walton Heath, Surrey.

Intense interest was added to the trial of Mrs. Pankhurst, because it is believed to mark the crucial test of militancy in Great Britain and further because of the popular belief that the present prosecution of the leader was directly inspired by King George.

Evidence Own Words

A curious feature of the remarkable case is that if Mrs. Pankhurst is convicted, it will be out of her own mouth. The crown's main evidence against her is the speech she is alleged to have delivered at Cardiff, Wales, in which she was quoted as saying that she willingly assumed all responsibility for inspiring the bomb attack on the house of the chancellor of the exchequer.

Mrs. Pankhurst this afternoon was released on bail when the day's adjournment was taken at Old Bailey. She renewed her promise of good behavior.

Joseph Geifer was defeated for re-election by Robert Whelpley in the Sixth by 11 majority. John Ash of the First, John Timp of the Second, William E. Vote Shows Falling Off

A comparison of the Dengler and Sorensen votes of yesterday with that of 1911 shows a remarkable change, Dengler's majority in 1911 being 201. Sorensen's vote yesterday showed a gain of 331 over that he received in 1911 and Dengler lost 1,068. There were 737 fewer votes cast in 1913 than in 1911.

THE DAUGHTER OF BRAHMA

By I. A. R. Wylie

Author of The Native Born, Dividing Waters, Etc.

The Daughter of Brahma is one of the most powerful novels of the season. The heroine is a Brahmin priestess who is wooed and won and carried off by a determined young English gentleman, who takes her to his country home. The greatness of the book consists not only in its literary ability but in its fearless character. It admits the evil on both sides, the fraud and bloodthirstiness of the Eastern, the brutality and hypocrisy of the Western.—The London Daily Mail

The instrumental quintet composed of three mandolins and two guitars, is one of exceptional ability and plays such difficult pieces as the Boston Ideal March which is undoubtedly the most difficult piece written for mandolins.

Mr. Wilson, the banjo soloist with the club, this year hails from Kentucky the home of the banjo and who for this reason is particularly fitted to carry the audience with him into some of the old southern plantations with his darky melodies.

The musical skit put in the program to lend variety to the entertainment, is a song and dance arrangement which deals with college life. It portrays the typical freshman, sophomore, junior and senior in their various positions in college.

The feature act of the program will be a specialty by Norman Bassett. This act was one chosen as the best in the Annual Union Vaudeville at the University this winter.

The closing number will be a scene in a college room with all the boys grouped around a fire place singing and playing the old favorite college melodies.

Beverly

Amy Leslie, the famous dramatic critic of the Chicago News, in reviewing George McCutcheon's "Beverly" writes as follows:

"George Barr McCutcheon's sparkling romance 'Beverly' has been exquisitely transformed by scholarly Robert M. Baker into a delightful play which was introduced to an attentive and enthusiastic audience at the Studebaker last night.. In the third act there is a fine 'Anthony Hope' sort of battle scene with three against one which is quite as pulsing and genuinely thrilling as anything Sothern or Hackett used to do."

At the La Crosse Theater, Saturday, April 5, matinee and night.

The Bohemian Girl

The highly spectacular revival of "The Bohemian Girl," in English, as it will be presented by the Osborn Opera company at the La Crosse Theater on Sunday, April 6, matinee and night, is said to be duplicating its immense success of last season. Several factors combined give to Balfe's greatest work a high place in the estimation of discriminating lovers of opera. Of these the foremost, is of course Balfe's delightful ballads "The Heart Bowed Down," "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," "Then You'll Remember Me," and others of equal beauty, but it should not be overlooked that to "The Bohemian Girl" Alfred Bunn, its librettist, gave a book that contains as interesting and coherent a romance as has been supplied to any of the other standard operas.

Strangely enough, it is when we take a man's word that we expect him to keep it.

JANESVILLE BLAZE DAMS UP RIVER

Half Million Dollar Fire Tumbles Ruins Across the Channel of Rock River

JANESVILLE, Wis., April 2.—Four business blocks are in ruins, several acres of city property are under water, and indications point to serious flood conditions are the result of the fire which Tuesday night wrought damage estimated today at close to half a million dollars.

The fire which started in the basement of the Red Clothing store, burned the piling which supports the building above the Rock river and toppled the burning structure against its nearest neighbor, the building occupied by the Bond Shoe company. It spread to the piling of the Rehberg clothing store and a candy and cigar store adjacent, toppling them into the river. The bridge also was destroyed.

As far as is known, no lives were lost. The stores had just closed for the night and janitors and other building employes have all meen accounted for.

The enormous amount of debris pricipitated into the river by the fall of the buildings dammed the stream which is at flood stage, and the consequent rise flooded the electric light plant, leaving the entire city in darknes. Firemen were called from Madison, Wis., and Rockford, Ill.

It was planned to dynamite the ruins today to prevent a serious flood in the Rock river bottoms north of the city.

BURNED AND ITCHED BADLY

Burn Was Sore and Ulcerated. All Red and Inflamed. Suffered Terribly. Could Not Sleep for Two Weeks. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Arm Healed Nicely.

539 Lincoln Park Blvd., Chicago, Ill.—"A year ago I received a very severe burn on my left arm. I caught cold in it and it was all sore and ulcerated. The sore was as large as a silver dollar. It was all red and inflamed and had pus running out of it. I suffered terribly from burning pain; could not sleep for two weeks it burned and itched so badly. I applied —— Salve, —— Salve and a salve my druggist recommended as his own, but got no relief. I then commenced using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed the burned parts with Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment on a linen bandage. I got relief from the first and my arm healed nicely. I was soon able to be at work again. Had I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment at first I would have avoided lots of suffering." (Signed) Harry Junke, Mar. 9, 1912.

VAUDEVILLE BACK WITH STAR BILL

Majestic Re-opens with a Pair of Headliners Who Are Nationally Famous

The first vaudeville show at the Majestic for several months will open tomorrow evening, featuring the famous Cherry Sisters and Will Rogers, star performer with the lariat. The two headliners are without question two of the best vaudeville acts that have appeared at the local theater. The Cherry Sisters, "the junkest act in vaudeville," have made their name a by-word on the variety stage for a dozen years. They receive big money for doing singing and dancing just a little worse than any one has ever been able to do it before.

Will Rogers, who divided the honors of "The Wall Street Girl," with Blanche Ring, is a world beater with the rope, and has a clever line of patter to accompany his stunts. Those who saw him when the Ring company was here recently will remember that his interpolated act stopped the show for fifteen minutes.

The other acts that will appear include Gilmore and Castle, eccentric black face comedians, Edgar Foreman and company in a stirring dramatic sketch—"The Danger Point"—and Josephine LeRoy, "The Perfume Girl."

The show will open tomorrow matinee and remain here for three days.

BUT TWO CLEAR DAYS IN MARCH

Only two clear days out of the thirty-one was the percentage of sun shine during the month of March just closed. Of the remaining twenty-nine days, nineteen were cloudy while ten were partly cloudy. The mean temperature for March was about the normal for this month, the highest being 60 on the 29th and the lowest 14 below on the 2nd. The greatest daily range in temperature was 34 degrees on the 2nd.

The prevailing direction of the wind for March was from the south with a total movement of 5905 miles. The average velocity of the winds was 7.9 miles an hour, while the maximum velocity was 30 miles an hour from the southwest on the 23rd.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

CHIVALRY

By LOUISE OLNEY

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The age of chivalry and sudden rescue is not dead. Jim Morton was a knight of labor. He stopped whistling and spreading pale green paint on the smoky ribs of the Grant rooming house and climbed down his ladder to investigate. April was soft and green, but beauty in a weeping little womanish heap on the dingy side porch was too much for him. As he wiped his hands on his overalls he watched the fair little head shine in the setting sun. The girl, in her dark blue dress, sat flat in the wreckage of what had been a trunk and wiped her eyes on a flimsy white gown, torn and soiled.

"What's up?" he asekd. She jumped to her feet and gave him a pathetic look of suspicion. Two underpaid years in a department store had weakened her natural trust in her kind. She was very little and young. But her searching eyes found trustworthiness in the clean, kindy young face of the man before her.

"I'm—just moving in. I got off a little early. I know my trunk was old, but the man was drunk and dropped it into the mud." She began to cry again.

Something in his very silence bade her go on. "He lost half my things, and I didn't have much. The other half is spoiled. And—I have nothing to wear, and I promised to go out tonight With—I don't dare not go! I didn't want to move, but they sold where I was, and—"

"Hard luck," he said gravely. "Let's pick up the pieces." He began to fit the pieces of tray together. As he reached for a can of nails and a hammer with a matter-of-fact, brotherly air, he looked at the white dress she was frowning over. "Couldn't you—sew it up or smothing?" he asked helplessly.

She gave a sudden little teary April laugh.

"It's past being—sewed or something."

He finished the tray and began on the wrecked hinges. "Couldn't you stay at home for once?" he suggested, "or do you want to go so very badly? It's too bad to miss a good time, but—"

Tragedy leaped to her eyes. Unconsciously both man and girl straightened and stood looking at each other.

"I'd rather die than go! But I said I would. It's—the head of my department. I've put him off before—I would lose my place. I can't this time of year. I've always held out against public dances. The other girls go. When you're—alone you can't hold out always. Would you go?"

Jim glanced up and saw Mrs. Grant coming up the street, gaunt, a little hard of face, and a protective instinct gripped him. The woman was almost home. He spoke in a low tone.

"Quick! Tell me your name, where you work, where you came from, and who the expressman was. Do you know his number?"

She obeyed him instantly. "Annie Mason. I'm eighteen. I work at Herder's handkerchiefs and neckwear. My folks are dead. I came from Spring Valley. His number was 19—he was big and fat, with a red beard."

As Mrs. Grant came out the side door with her hands on her hips to watch operation. Jim was helping to put things back into the trunk.

"You're the new girl?" she said.

Annie described her accident in her little, faltering way, while the woman waited stonily.

"I'll carry it up, Mrs. Grant, if you'll show me the way," Jim said pleasantly.

Annie thanked him and he went whistling back to his work. He remounted the ladder and began smothing pale green paint over the winter soot and dust. He thought of the budding trees about him, and a little house in a patch of green at the edge of the city. A new glad thing stirred in his heart, protection, responsibility, a warmtth and a burden. To his mental vision came a little, fair head bent despairingly over a torn dress and a dattered trunk. So absorbed was he that at first he was not conscious of a woman's half-scolding tone and a girl's indistinct murmuring. Then, with a start, he listened deliberately. The sound came from the second story window, just above his perch. Mrs. Grant was saying:

"And I won't have no fresh actin' up in my place—talkin' to a workman you don't know almost before you get in the house!"

Jim ran up the ladder and put his head in at the window, his big shoulders filling the open space. The woman shrieked but the girl's glance caught at the strength and comfort of him.

"Couldn't help hearin' you, Mrs. Grant. Now, you have known me years and I've lived in your house. You know I'm straight. I spoke to her first and offered to help her—and I know her anyway, knew her folks back at Spring Valley. The Masons were all good people, and she's on the square if she does have to work at Herder's. You have had girls that didn't do right, but she tends to business. I'll answer for her."

The woman smiled at him a little. She was only overworked and disillusioned, not really hard. "Well, I didn't mean any harm. I'm sure she's all right. Young girls are so careless. I meant it as a warning. Put your things away and come on down and I'll give you some tea. Perhaps you ain't the kind that needs scarin'—cuddlin' might do better."

It was quitting time and James Morton put away his ladder, cleaned his brushes and made a bee line for the express office. He knew men there. He emerged with the light of conflict in his eye and a check in his fist. Still whistling, he took a car to the hot room he shared with Connie Semple. He washed, shaved, dressed and listened unflinchingly to Connie's persiflage. Connie jumped at the chance to tease.

"The rubbin' down, an' dressin' and scrapin' of him! Girl—at last! I began to think ye weren't human about girls!"

"A fellow has to—wait for the right girl," Jim said as he dashed out. He ate at the first lunchroom and then took a car in the direction of Grant's boarding house.

The evening was filled with the smoke and fragrance of little clean-up fires. Boys played about the buildings, old people stood in doorways and young ones wandered in twos through the twilight. As Jim went up the steps he saw a slender, shrinking girl with a heavy-set, well-dressed man, double her age. Jim heard her say:

"I'm telling the truth. My things were all spoiled, so I just can't go."

"And I don't believe you," the man was answering. "You've always got some excuse. I don't see why we keep any girl so uppish as you. Nothing will eat you alive at a dance. You'll have a good time. I want you just because you're not like the rest."

Jim stepped into the breach.

"Good evening, Annie, here's the damages for your trunk. I went after them hot and heavy about it."

The man ignored him.

"Hurry, we'll be late. We ought to be going," he said.

"Excuse me," Jim said firmly to the man, "but my girl's goin' with me, and with no one else. I'm big enough to take her to a dance if she wants to go to one. We're goin' out tomorrow to see the house I bought for her. You better get out of here. I got a feeling for you that ain't healthy." He spoke quietly.

The man shrugged his shoulders and walked away laughing a little.

"She sure got the best of me," he muttered, "sharp girl!"

Jim drew the girl's arm under his and walked her off up the street rapidly lest she break down and cry. Presently he got her to a breathing space in a litle park, and tears came to her relief.

"There, there!" he soothed. "You don't have to have me if you don't want me—if you could—love me—I—"

She gave that little sudden April laugh of hers.

"As if anything human—could help loving you!"

They talked it all over.

"And, oh," she finished, "to think you had to lie for me—about knowing my folks, and Spring Valley!"

"It was true! I know the Shafers, and Nellie Cannon, and old Bill Stubbs and Mrs. Stacy—I knew your father and brother—I'm eight years older than you—and we lived ten miles off. Ten miles is neighbors in the country, you know—"

"Oh," she sighed, "all the dear Spring Valley folks—and you—"

He coudn't kiss her in a park with folks about all eyes and ears. He did the next best thing—drew her arm close in his and walked on with her whispering a sweet name in her ear.

What ails you may not be as bad as the Latin name the medico applies to it.

Break Away From Blood Bondage

Drugs in Common Use Harmful as the Disease They are Supposed to Cure.

Many people are shackled to continued suffering by the drugs they use. These seem to dry up the surface but there's a stomach almost destroyed, there are ulcerated bones; locomotor ataxia, convulsions, abscesses, falling hair, impaired eye-sight, deafness, and a host of other troubles continue to make life miserable. There is one blood remedy that you can only rely upon. It is not a "dope," not a physic, not a mineral poison but a pure, powerful medicine that cleanses your blood so completely; so washes your veins, arteries and tissues; so thoroughly bathes your body with internal healthful influence that soon you not only feel a wonderful change but your entire appearance undergoes the most welcome transformation. S. S. S. has long been recognized as the greatest blood purifier ever known.

Get Away From This Misery. Let S. S. S. Do it for You.

If you have been fighting some blood trouble, some eruptive skin disease, call it eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria, scrofula or what you will, there is but one sure, safe way to cure it. Ask at any drug store for a $1.00 bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influenove as that the sun rises in the east. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood for the diseased venous blood is marvelous.

Out through every skin pore acids, germs and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor. The lungs breath it out, the liver is stimulated to consume a great proportion of impurities, the stomach and intestines cease to convey into the blood stream the catarrhal, malarial germs; the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all emunctories of the body are marshalled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of eruptive disease.

There is scarcely a community anywhere but what has its living example of the wonderful curative effects of S. S. S. Get a bottle of this famous remedy today, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar write to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Their medical laboratory is famous and is conducted by renowned experts in blood and skin diseases.

A. F. OF L. MAY AID

PATERSON, N. J., April 2.—Leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, today called a mass meeting of the silk strikers to consider overtures of assistance from the American Federation of Labor. The I. W. W. and American Federation of Labor have not been in harmony in textile industry strikes but recently the leaders of 20,000 weavers, dyers and helpers engaged in the bitter struggle here for higher wages and better working conditions received word from the federation that it was ready to consider lending its aid to the strikers.

Neither is there anything to the theory that good habits are as hard to break as bad ones.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, April 2.—Bullish sentiment dominated the market today and higher Liverpool cables sent May wheat up to 91c, the highest point it has reached for several weeks. This was ½c over Monday's close. July was up ⅜c over the close of Monday. The government visible supply report showed a decrease of 1,490,000 bushels since last week and this fact was taken advantage of by bull influences.

Corn futures ruled strong on promises of a big eastern demand. May ran to 54¼c and July to 55⅜c at noon, ⅜c over the day's opening for both months.

Considerable buying of oats, advanced options on both months. Several commission houses had orders to sell May oats at 31½, and checked any dump much beyond that point.

Provisions opened weak but had a slight recovery later in the day.

PLAN MOTORDOME

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 2.—A quarter mile motordome for motorcycles and automobiles will be built here and opened for racing July 4, according to an announcement today by promoters.

Give some men a $1 job and they will spend $2 worth of time walking around and looking.

SPORT NEWS

LURICH IS EASY MEAT FOR GOTCH

Champion Gets Much Easy Money by Placing Russian on His Back in Hurry

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 2.—Some 17,000 mat fans admitted today that "one fool is born every minute," when they thought of the $18,000 they spent last night to see Frank Gotch throw George Lurich, alleged Russian strong man. Frank turned the trick in nearly record time. He won the first fall in 18:10, with an arm and toe hold and the second in 5:35 with a double Nelson. The champion was 40 pounds heavier than the Russian and the Iowa corn grower simply played with the foreigner. Today it was admitted that no one but the promoters and Gotch ever had a chance. About the only difference between the match last night and the Gotch-Hack fiasco in Chicago July 4, 1911, say mat followers, was that Hack offered an excuse and Lurich did not.

SMITH TO MEET TALL WHITE HOPE

NEFW YORK, April 2.—Gunboat Smith, who put a crimp in the championship aspirations of Bombadier Wells, will make his first appearance in the ring since his easy victory over the English tonight when he meets Fred McKay of Winnipeg, said to be the tallest man in the fighting game. The pair of white hopes will cross mitts at the Fairmont Athletic club and plans have been made to match the winner with Luther McCarty.

CHAMPION ROWER TO COACH GOPHERS

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 2.—Geo. Van Vliet, formerly "doubles" champion of the United States and Canada, and one of the most efficient handlers of oars in America, reached St. Paul yesterday to assume his duties as 1913 coach of the Minnesota boat club. So great was the anticipation of Van Vliet's arrival that when he landed at the union station a delegation from the local organization was present to welcome him to the city and an informal reception was forthwith held.

MARQUETTE DROPS GRIDIRON SPORT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 2.—Marquette university will not be represented by a football team next fall.

This definite announcement, made last night by Fr. Theissen, athletic director at Marquette, puts the stamp of truth on rumors that have been circulated for several days that all gridiron activities would be dropped by the gold and blue institution for at least one year, and possibly for two.

Fr. Theissen also said that Marquette would not take up any form of athletics this year.

THREATEN TO JAIL COURT OFFICERS

SEATTLE, Wash., April 2.—Superior Judge John E. Humphrey notified the commissioners of King county on Tuesday that unless they supplied for his court room, before the opening hours on Wednesday, an American flag with forty-eight stars and 6x9 feet in dimensions, he would commit them to the county jail. Judge Humphrey recently requested the commissioners to purchase the flag and they refused. Two of the commissioners said they would go to jail rather than obey the court.

BINGLES FROM THE TRAINING CAMP

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 2.—The Cubs today woke up to the fact that they are to have no easy sailing for the series with the Blues. Yesterday's battle went eleven innings and, though the Cubs shot over two tallies and won, they bumped the hardest competition they have been up against this year.

Larry Cheney went ten innings, holding the Blues well until the tenth, when he weakened. Toney was substituted. Evers men won 2 to 0.

AMARILLO, Tex., April 2.—The White Sox were still on the hunt for a real baseball game when they arrived here today. Yesterday's match at El Paso was a farcical affair that equalled the exhibition at Yuma, Ariz., the day before.

One hundred United States regulars, down here patrolling the border, watched Callahan's men trim the El Paso natives, 9 to 4, without exertion.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 2.—The Giants continued their victorious march northward today following an easy victory over the Maryville college nine. Spring weather, with ideal baseball conditions, has put the squad in tip-top humor and condition. The leisurely journey, with an occasional game to limber up, has become a sort of vacation for McGraw's men. Today they tackle another of the Southern minor league teams.
